“

1. The petitioner has filed the present petition, inter alia, impugning an order dated 30.09.2016 (hereafter ‘the impugned order’) wherein, the order dated 20.12.2013 passed by the Maintenance Tribunal was modified.

2. After some arguments, learned counsel for respondent nos.2 & 3 concur that the respondents will jointly provide maintenance of ₹10,000/- per month to the petitioner. In addition, the said respondents shall also share all medical bills in equal proportion. This Court is also informed that a full time attendant is employed to look after the petitioner who is now ailing. Respondent nos.2 & 3 have also agreed to contribute ₹5,000/- each towards the salary of the said attendant.

It is also clarified that in the event the aforesaid order is not complied with, the respondents will necessarily have to be evicted from the property occupied by them as the same is admittedly owned by the petitioner. And, this is in addition to other consequences that may follow for non compliance of this order.
